Hear from business leaders and the Taskforce on Care Costs about:

- results from the national survey on Creating Choice: Employment and the Cost of Care
- why supporting workers with caring responsibilities is a critical issue for business and the national economy
- how the cost of care for children, elders and people with a disability impacts workforce participation, and
- options for reform.

As a member of this Taskforce, our Employee Relations practice and the Freehills Women in Business program are proud to host the launch of this report.
