

5.30pm for 6-8pm Tuesday 28th October 2008

Guest Speaker:

Monica Barone, CEO for the City of Sydney

Proudly hosted by:

Level 18 Grosvenor Place, 225 George Street, Sydney

Monica Barone has lived in Sydney for the past 11 years holding senior management positions with the Warringah, South Sydney City and City of Sydney Councils. As the Director of Community Living for South Sydney then the City, she has been instrumental in fostering the cultural vibrancy of the area. She also developed and implemented much needed community and social services projects in the childcare, homeless, affordable housing, drug and alcohol, aged care and community library areas.

During her career Monica has promoted the importance of the private sector in partnering with government to support or deliver services and projects across all areas of service – be it arts, construction or waste services. She has strong links with business through her role in managing the City's major cultural and event sponsorships and representing the City on various governing boards and committees.

Respected by her peers for her strong management and organisational skills, Monica has brought process improvements and strategic insight to her roles. Monica's Italian heritage comes to the fore when talking about her interests in theatre, music, and her family. Monica sits on the board of the Sydney Festival.
